Part of the Civil Service Sailing Association

Who are Channel Sailing Division?

Channel Sailing Division is part of the Civil Service Sailing Association and we have a 36ft yacht, Sea Essay based on the south coast of England near Southampton.

Sea Essay is a modern well equipped boat, featuring all the latest marine gadgets such as satellite navigation and RADAR. She also carries a full compliment of safety equipment which far exceeds that which is required by law.

What can Sea Essay bring to your organisation?

There are a number of opportunities for CSSC members to sail on Sea Essay. We are running a number of "day sails" which are just a day long and a great introduction to sailing, no experience is necessary!

We also are run "Seatimes" which are longer trips, these can be anything from a weekend or week long. Seatimes offer a great chance to live aboard the Yacht for a few days, make new friends, and visit some interesting and beautiful places on the south coast of England, Channel Islands or even Northern France.

We also run training courses, approved by the Royal Yachting Association. These are at prices which are considerably lower than those offered by the commercial sailing schools. We also are in the position to organise some "Group Day Sails" for your organisation.

Sea Essay offers civil servants a great opportunity to experience sailing at an affordable price and is a fantastic experience.

Group Day Sails

As mentioned above we are also able to organise group day sails these are for individual departments giving groups of work colleagues the chance to experience sailing together. In the past these day sails have proven to be excellent team building events and/or simply a fun day out on the water.
